Incentives

(read from bottom to top)

- Homeschool Blogging @hsblogging 7m

Thanks for joining today's #HSBloggers Twitter Tuesday chat! We'll see you back next week at 3pm ET!

- Ashley Mills Hill @TheHillHangout 7m

@hsblogging Reviews can be helpful when getting started. Many companies will provide product for giveaway. #hsbloggers

@kerrybeck I have some great ideas for offers/promotions, but I have yet to implement any of them! #hsbloggers

View conversation

- kerrybeck @kerrybeck 8m

cool RT @forthisseason: @CreativLEI me too! I started posting a lot of recipes (simple cooking) and have had a great response. #hsbloggers

Expand

- Becky Marie @forthisseason 8m

@kerrybeck I love that approach as the consumer because I can test the quality of what I'm paying for. #hsbloggers

View conversation

- kerrybeck @kerrybeck 8m

@TheHillHangout I posted an old product review on Sunday and got orders this week for that product #hsbloggers

View conversation

- Lisa Marie Fletcher @Lisa_MarieF 8m

q6 trying to figure that out! #hsbloggers

Expand

- Ashley Pichea @apichea 8m

@kerrybeck I struggle to "sell" my readers - I don't mind telling them about a great deal, but selling is not my gift #hsbloggers
